

The DrPH Coalition
Brookline, MA 02446

The Honorable Charles Schumer
Majority Leader
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

The Honorable Mitch McConnell
Minority Leader
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Majority Leader Schumer and Minority Leader McConnell,

We, the undersigned public health students and graduates, offer our strong support for a student loan repayment program for public health graduates, such as in S. 3506. We urge approval of such legislation as soon as possible.

As public health students and graduates, we are uniquely qualified for successful careers in governmental public health agencies, because unlike any other discipline of study, we study subjects such as epidemiology, health education, environmental health, biostatistics, health equity, health policy and population health. Implementing and funding a Public Health Workforce Loan Repayment Program for professionals who serve in a local, state, or Tribal health department would be a major step forward in recruiting future leaders for the nation's public health workforce.

CDC Director Rochelle Walensky recently stated that there is a shortage of 80,000 public health professionals. Current health professions loan repayment programs, offered through the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA), have been successful at bolstering the health care workforce in underserved areas. However, no such program exists specifically for the public health workforce despite the demonstrated need.

A federal loan repayment program for public health agencies could be a powerful recruitment and retention tool. Public health graduates nationally have a median debt load of $52,263 and first-destination earnings of only $48,866.¹ According to a recent survey, Doctor of Public Health (DrPH) graduates are twice as likely to report having debt at graduation, and more than twice as likely to report debt over $100,000 as compared with similar degrees.² Nearly 50% of respondents reported that their debt situation influences their career choice.

¹ Monetary and Nonmonetary Costs and Benefits of a Public Health Master's Degree in the 21st Century. Beck, Angela et al. American Journal of Public Health; Washington Vol. 110, Iss. 7, (Jul 2020): 978-985.
DOI:10.2105/AJPH.2020.305648

² The impact of student debt on career choice among Doctor of Public Health graduates in the United States: a descriptive analysis. Park and Coles. IJERPH, 19(8) (April 2022). <https://www.mdpi.com/1660-4601/19/8/4836>

There are more than 35,000 public health graduates each year, but only about 17% of graduates find jobs in government, and only 10% find jobs in state or local government after graduation.³ A loan repayment program could significantly increase this low percentage.

Several bipartisan bills have been introduced in the 116th Congress that would implement this much-needed Public Health Workforce Loan Repayment program including the Strengthening the Public Health Workforce Act (S. 3506) and the PREVENT Pandemics Act (S. 3799). Passage of bills like these, with commensurate funding, would be an essential step to building a stronger and more resilient public health workforce.

As we transition from the pandemic response, it is critical that we invest in the future of our public health. Loan repayment is critical to public health graduates who play a major role in rebuilding the public health workforce. We urge you to support a public health loan repayment program. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Eric Coles, DrPH
